Photographic image inspires a Suzette painting

On occasion people ask me, "Where do you get the ideas for your paintings?" I tell them that inspiration comes from anywhere and everywhere. My latest painting on the right was inspired by this smaller photograph I saw on Facebook. I was immediately struck by the blues and whites, with that ever so slight touch of pink. I couldn't wait to go into my artroom and paint my own interpretation of the image.

This smaller photo was taken by my friend Bob Ericksen. His wife Joan uses this image as her official Facebook photo. It inspired me to paint the larger image on the right.

Thoughts That Soar

I'm pleased to introduce a new line of notecards Thoughts That Soar which included a series of inspirational sayings inside each individually hand-painted notecard.

To see a listing of some of the statements, click on the HeartArt Notecard link on the home page of my website at www.SuzetteBoulais.com.

Each set of 12 notecards is $26.95 plus shipping.

Playing around with a League Logo

LIVE THEATRE LEAGUE of the Greater Peoria Area

I serve on a committee that plans to initiate a Live Theatre League of the Greater Peoria area, replete with official website and logo. No official logo design has yet been selected, but here is my submission of stars appearing above a stylized Peoria skyline under a contemporary-style theatre curtain. Even if this logo isn't selected, the joy is always the journey for me when it comes to graphic design.

Feel free to forward this enews to friends and colleagues!
